DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claim 16 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jp 10-007450 in view of Jp 40-26525.

The Jp 10-007450 reference teaches a jewel which is formed on a platinum layer. The jewel is placed onto the layer and secured by conventional techniques, note translated abs. The sole difference between the instant claim and the prior art is the specific jewel. However, the Jp 40-26525 reference teaches a jewelry grade colored corundum, note translation. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the Jp 10-007450 reference by the teachings of the Jp 40-26525 reference to use corundum as the jewel as the reference is not limited in scope to the set gems.

Claims 17 to 20, 23 and 24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jp 10-007450 in view of Jp 40-26525.

The references are relied on for the same reasons as stated, supra, and differ from the instant claims in the orientation and shape. However, in the absence of unexpected results, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to determine through routine experimentation the optimum, operable shape and orientation of the gem in the combined references in order to create the desired properties.

Claims 21 and 22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Applicants' Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed June 26, 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicants' argument concerning the references is noted. However, the prior art does still render the instant invention obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art. The prior art does teach a corundum crystal formed on platinum. The process of forming is different between the instant claims. However, there is no difference seen between the products. Both teach a process of forming a crystal on a platinum layer.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
